A new daylight savings bug has cropped up in the 700w where appointments do not spring ahead.

Daylight Savings Time started in the US this morning, April 2nd at 2am. The result in most clocks in the US being turned forward an hour. According to Palm, appointments entered directly into the Palm Treo 700w ignore the change due to Daylight Savings Time. Appointments entered from Palm Desktop will make the correct adjustment.

Palm is working on the issue and we'll notify our readers when a fix is available. For more information, please read the related knowledge base article at Palm.
